One night last week just about dinner time a car arrived and an Indian gentleman sent in his card adding 'with panther and three severely wounded men.' This was more or less true and he told me an extraordinary tale how he had been hunting a panther about in scrub jungle all afternoon. A fourth man had been severely mauled in the morning and the villagers had sent word to him as he is notorious for the way he hunt panthers at any time and in any circumstances. There was a great crowd of villagers and two of the wounded people were pulled out of small trees by the panther as it went about in the jungle which was limited in extent. The third man had a wound on the back of the neck. Mr.Lobo eventually drove it into a paddy field and shot it with shot gun S.G. This illustrates however the really urgent need for electric light in the Government Hospital. The three men had to have their wounds dresse that night and the first dressing after being mauled by a panther is surely the most important. This failur to instal electric light in the hospital is a great grievance in Mangalore. The general public cannot be wrong when it argues that it was more important in 1933-34 to instal the light than to replace the satisfactory compound wall (mud with rough laterite pillars) by a superb compound wall (dressed laterite throughout) I feel too that these matters do affect the credit of the Govt. and it is the duty of the Collector to bring such matters to the notice of the Govt. When it is not a question of finance (the wall was very expensive) it must, I submit, be conceded that the administrative machinery ought to be more selective.
